Mediation Experience

Karim Mohamed is both a mediator and has also represented parties in mediation. In other words, he knows how mediation works.

Karim was a senior solicitor with a large city firm in London for 10 years, then Partner and head of the Professional Negligence Department at a firm in Norwich. He is now based in the south-east as head of the Professional Negligence Team at a respected firm.

He is recognised as a specialist in negligence claims against professionals, including solicitors, surveyors and accountants, for which the 2002 Legal 500 noted "... he attracts work nationally..."

Trained as a commercial mediator, Karim brings a wealth of experience over a wide range of disputes including contract and partnership disputes, contested probate and estates matters, landlord & tenant issues and his own area of specialism – professional negligence claims.

He is described as:

"... a cool head under pressure and obvious integrity."

Why choose consensus mediation...?

Our role ensures that...

- Mediators remain wholly impartial and focused on the dispute because we handle all the fee negotiations, contracts, documents and logistics;

- Mediators do not become disqualified from acting (even by perception) because of previous direct or frequent instructions from one party or solicitor;
- Clients and their solicitors can concentrate on the case while we sort out all the administration and logistics.

We quote an inclusive fee for the mediator's time and the administration of the entire mediation process. Consensus Mediation does not charge for "overtime" or for any other hidden extras.
